From foster family recruitment and support services, to assisting families in the state licensure process to become foster homes, they work toward the mission to provide a stable and loving family environment for children who are hurting.

Earlier this month, the Angel Moms hosted their annual Sea of Hope Luncheon to support the many foster care families on the Treasure Coast. The event was co-chaired by Cristy Brown and Caye Johnson.

"Angel Moms bring awareness to the Treasure Coast community by raising funds to support the foster care expansion through foster parent recruitment and training and gathering support for foster care families," Johnson said. "I look forward to coming alongside other women and men in our community who want to be an advocate for these much-deserving, precious, at-risk children."

Deana and Fred Peterson were recognized with the Hero of Hope award for the difference they've made in the lives of local foster children.

Supporters at the luncheon had the opportunity to make pledges that were matched to benefit Place of Hope, and enjoyed an afternoon of lunch and shopping with local vendors who donated back a portion of all sales.
